

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Margo Leavin Gallery
is pleased to present

Raid the Icebox

22 March – 26 April 2003

The Margo Leavin Gallery is pleased to announce a group exhibition of works chosen by fifteen gallery artists. The exhibition will be on view from 22 March through 26 April 2003.

Raid the Icebox is titled after a similar exhibition Andy Warhol created with the Rhode Island School of Design (RISD) in 1969 for which he was given free rein to select works from the school's collections. The end result was an engaging institutional critique that opened the door for new varieties of exhibitions.

Our gallery artists will bring the otherwise private back galleries to the front by selecting works from inventory along with works of their own for exhibition. The works chosen vary greatly in style and medium, and will include sculpture, photography, painting, and works on paper.
